The Inlandia Institute is happy to announce that in Spring 2020, it will publish its third annual teen issue of its online creative writing journal, “Inlandia: A Literary Journey”. All Inland Empire teens ages 13–19 are encouraged to submit fiction, nonfiction, poetry, book reviews, and artwork. Submissions will be judged by teens living in the Inland Empire. The submissions selected will be published in the spring issue. Our goal is to highlight the creativity of our Inland Empire youth and to give them the opportunity to publish their work professionally. This speaks to our greater mission of recognizing, supporting and expanding all forms of literary activity through community programs in Inland Southern California.
